

PRESENTS

A NIGHT OF FRIGHT

TICKETS NOW ON SALE!

Be sure you get the best seats in the house by acting now to get tickets for "A NIGHT OF FRIGHT," when the Reading Civic Theatre becomes the Reading Civic READERS Theatre" and, on a dark, stark stage, talented actors will read creepy tales I have selected and adapted from my books about haunted people, places, and things in and around Berks County.

There is nary a costume, prop, or backdrop...there will be only words, and hopefully through those words, read by seasoned performers, provocative sets and scenes will take shape in your minds' eye.

Consider it a "theatre of the mind," a form of entertainment that dates to the ancient Greek myths and dramas and was propagated and presented by the likes of Seneca, Goethe, Dickens, Poe, Twain, and O'Neill.

"A NIGHT OF FRIGHT" will be presented one night only, Saturday, November 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the comfortable confines of the Civic Theatre, in the Fox East Complex, Theatre Two, 4350 Perkiomen Avenue, (the Reading Mall/Boscov's East), Reading, PA. Free, safe parking.

All proceeds go to support the fine work of the Reading Civic Theatre

FOR TICKETS, GO TO

www.tix.com/ticket-sales/readingcivic/6949/event/1430871

THE EVENING'S READERS WILL BE

- Debbie Bowman • Angela DeAngelo
- Keith Bortz • Betsy Chapman
- Samantha Grinage • Jeff Yoder
- Joanne Agrian Mercer • Nadine Poper
- Introduced by Kevin Adams